Planet Needs YOUth

3rd edition

ISPI's initiative Planet Needs YOUth is back to encourage young students to take action for the future of our world. The project, launched in 2021 as part of the G20/T20 Italy, provides a platform for discussion with a view to advancing new ideas and proposals on common global challenges. Planet Needs YOUth is divided into three major parts: the Interactive Youth Forum, the Competition and the G20 Simulation

Game. Key topics of the 2023 edition include: possible way out to the Ukraine war and other major crises; the path towards a green and inclusive future; pros and cons of digitalisation and AI.

The third edition of Planet Needs YOUth engages Italian and foreign young participants from across Europe (20-25 years old).

Planet Needs YOUth in numbers (2022)

- 1000+ applications;
- 140 projects;
- 40 G20 Global Ambassadors;
- 500 young people selected for the Interactive Youth Forum;
- 3 winners.

● Interactive Youth Forum

One-day virtual event with high-level speakers from Italy and the international community who exchange views with the +500 young participants on the most pressing international issues.

Speakers from past editions

● Competition

Participants of the Interactive Youth Forum will be asked to advance their own ideas by proposing an advertising campaign on one of the following topics: possible way out to today's security crises; the need for taking action against climate change; living in a world with AI.

Young participants proposing the best 40 campaigns are appointed G20 Global Ambassadors; students of the top three campaigns are also awarded with one of the following prizes: free access to a Diploma/Certificate of the ISPI School; cost-free access to the ninth edition of the Rome MED Dialogues conference in Rome.

● G20 Simulation Game

The 40 G20 Global Ambassadors play the role of the Sherpas during the simulation of the G20 Summit organized by ISPI, and they have full access to the Global Policy Forum co-hosted by ISPI, Bocconi University and OECD - in Milan on 22-23 May.

After various rounds of negotiations, the Ambassadors write a Final Declaration of the 2023 G20 Presidency.
